TRAGIC END OF CZECH FOREIGN MINISTER

Masaryk Commits Suicide

People Gather In Prague Streets
But Hold No Demonstrations

'DILEMMA OF MAN WHO MUST DECIDE
WHETHER HE CAN SERVE DEMOCRACY
BETTER DEAD THAN ALIVE', SAYS
SCHUMACHER

PRAGUE, March 10. (Reuter).

Dr. Jan Masaryk, 61-year-old son of the founder of the Czech Republic, whose acceptance of office as Foreign Minister in the Communist-dominated Government 10 days ago surprised Western Observers, committed suicide in Prague today, the Czech News Agency announced.

He jumped from a window of his official residence in the Czernin Palace.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

An official statement issued by the Prime Minister's office said: "Dr. Jan Masaryk, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, put an end to his life devoted to the work of the nation and the country, as a result of his illness, combined with insomnia. It is probable that in a moment of nervous disturbance he decided to end his life. "Neither on the day before his tragic death nor yesterday evening did Dr. Masaryk show any signs of mental depression; on the contrary he was full of life and of his usual optimism," the announcement said.

FLOWERS COVER HIS SEAT
A huge pile of red and white flowers covered the seat he would have occupied this afternoon when Parliament opened its first session since the crisis established a Communist-dominated Government in power.

All flags on public buildings were flown at half-mast and people gathered in groups in the streets, but there were no demonstrations.

M. Václav Nosek, Minister of the Interior, made a short statement in Parliament, after which the speaker adjourned the Assembly for five minutes as a mark of mourning.

M. Nosek in his statement to parliament disclosed that Dr. Masaryk's body was found half an hour after he threw himself from his window this morning. DID CRITICISM LEAD TO IT? M. Nosek said that during the previous evening Dr. Masaryk had been reading telegrams from his friends in America and Britain, expressing disappointment at what Mr. Nosek called "his brave behaviour" in joining the new Government—an action which surprised Western observers.

Opposition supporters here were saying today that the suicide was an expression of despair at the situation in which the country finds itself.

Last week after the new Government had been formed Dr. Masaryk, life-long friend of Britain and America, declared: "My place is together with the people I love. You may reckon on me. I am one of you."

LIFE HISTORY
Aged 61 Dr. Jan Masaryk was born in Vienna and educated in Prague and New York. On the establishment of the Czechoslovak Republic he entered the diplomatic service.

He resigned as Czechoslovak Minister in London after the Munich agreement at the end of 1938. In 1939 after a lecture tour in the United States Dr. Masaryk returned to Britain and after the annexation of Czechoslovakia by the Nazis worked valiantly to aid his overrun country and compatriot refugees from Hitler. In 1941 when the Czechoslovak National Committee in London was recognised as the Provisional Czech Government in exile, Dr. Masaryk was appointed Foreign Minister. He married Mrs. Frances Crane (Continued on Page 5.)

Asaf Ali To Leave His Post

WASHINGTON, March 10. (Reuter). The Indian Ambassador to the United States, Mr. Asaf Ali, revealed today that he is leaving his post in Washington at the end of April or early in May.

The Ambassador's appointment for one year expired on February 20, but he is remaining here temporarily at the request of the Indian Government.

Mr. Asaf Ali plans to go to London and before returning to his Home in New Delhi hopes to be able to take a holiday in Europe.

Asked if he was taking any other official post, he said: "There is much to be done. I am glad to do anything my Government asks of me."

Pakistan To Be Union Of Socialist Republics?

KARACHI, March 10. (I. P. A.): Nemesis seems to have overtaken Mr. Jinnah and his Pakistan. The move for the new All-Pakistan People's Party initiated by Khan Abdul Ghaffar Khan and 200 other leading men of Pakistan envisages among other things Pakistan as a Union of Free Socialist Republics.

Observers here say that this new move has all the chances of success as discontent even among many of Mr. Jinnah's erstwhile followers is growing daily.

Mr. Jinnah who with his obstinacy played into the hands of the British to have India partitioned may soon see Pakistan divided into small autonomous, almost free, republics, and the Centre shorn of much of its power and prestige.

MUSLIM LEAGUE TO BE 'RETAINED IN INDIA'

Sub-Committee Appointed To Frame New Constitution

MADRAS, March 10. (A.P.I.): The meeting of the Indian Union Muslim League Council which met here today under the presidency of Mr. Mohamed Ismail (Convener) after ten hours discussion adopted the main resolution to retain the League in the Indian Union with a new constitution to be framed by a sub-committee appointed for the purpose.

The meeting further resolved that the Muslim League shall now devote its attention principally to the promotion of the religious, cultural, educational and economic interests of the Muslims of the Union.

The sub-committee shall draw up a new constitution for the Indian Union Muslim League, keeping in view the radically changed conditions in the country and the supreme necessity for Hindu-Muslim unity, communal goodwill and understanding. In general, the new constitution shall also provide for the Muslim League joining with any other political party "that can deliver the goods for the people."

Mr. Mohammed Ismail (convener) was elected President, and Haji Hassanali P. Ibrahim Saheb (Bombay) and Mr. Mahabub Ali Baig (Madras) as Treasurer and General Secretary respectively.

TRIBUTE TO MAHATMA
The meeting adopted a resolution at the outset all members standing, expressing "profound sorrow at the tragic death of Mahatma Gandhi at the hands of an assassin" and declaring that the death of Mahatma Gandhi had removed from the country that great and dynamic personality who had been striving with unparallelled real and devotion for communal peace and harmony in the land.

The meeting also appealed to the Muslims and other communities in the Indian Union strenuously to strive for the establishment of peace and harmony among all sections of the people as that would be a fitting monument to the memory of that Great Ambassador of Peace.

MAIN RESOLUTION
Following is the main resolution passed by the Council: "Whereas in view of the attainment of the independence of the country it is essential that the policy of the

Ayyangar Appeals For Speedy Solution

LAKE SUCCESS, March 10. (Reuter): Mr. N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar, leader of the Indian Delegation to the Security Council, today appealed for a speedy solution of the "knotty problem" of Kashmir.

Speaking in the Council for the first time since his return from New Delhi, where he consulted his Government, Mr. Ayyangar said that fighting was still going on in Kashmir, adding: "I wonder whether we might have saved many lives and the expenditure of much material and money, if we had been able to arrive at a settlement at a much earlier date than we had been trying to achieve."

Mr. Ayyangar told the Council that for some days he had been in consultation with his Government on Kashmir and they had explored all avenues of settlement. He said India "is essentially a lover of peace."

She stands for the maintenance of peace in the world for the avoidance of war. "She has immense faith in the capacity of the United Nations and the Security Council in achieving this end and maintaining world peace. But for that we would not have come to this Council."

"I have been asked by my Government to reiterate its faith in the efficacy of this organization and the Security Council. It is our hope that with the help of the Council we shall reach a settlement with Pakistan, which would, in the first place, put an end at the earliest possible moment to the fighting."

Secondly, would lay the foundation for a more permanent organization between the two countries."

MESSAGE INCOMPLETE
Who Rules Hyderabad?

HYDERABAD, March 10. (A.P.I.): Who is ruling Hyderabad? Is a question in the mouth of many people in the Indian Union. The Union Committee is apparently having an upper hand in the State and is reported to have threatened the Premier Lakshmi Bai that if the Nizam was to accede to the Indian Union, the latter would set up a parallel Government.

The Telanga Peasants have established their own rule in the "liberated" 200 villages, an area 1,800 sq. miles, with a population of 40 lakhs. The Nizam's Military and the many of the aerodromes in the State are said to be almost in the hands of the British who are developing them with American dollars.

The Itenahs "Razakars" are spreading terror among the population and it is said that even Begum Qudsia Begum (Begum Bahadur Yar Jung) has offered the Itenahs a Committee her services.

India Takes No Chances
NEW DELHI, March 10. (I.P.A.): With war clouds gathering India is keeping in readiness. Major-General J. N. Choudhury, Chief of the General Staff, has left for Poona to confer with the General Officer Commanding Southern Command. The Indian Press Association understands that the visit is in connection with defence arrangements in the event of a sudden war.

With Itenah's army, the Razakars, on war path and violating constantly the Union territory, and the Portuguese war-like preparations in Goa and their reported fortification of the frontiers, it is said here, that the Indian Union can take no chances.

Papanek Charges Stalin Of Violating Terms Of Treaty With Czechoslovakia

LAKE SUCCESS, March 10. (Reuter): M. JAN PAPANEK, PERMANENT CZECHOSLOVAK REPRESENTATIVE TO THE UNITED NATIONS, TOLD THE PRESS TODAY THAT HE COULD NOT COMMITTED SUICIDE.

M. PAPANEK DENOUNCED THE NEW CZECH GOVERNMENT AND ASKED THE SECURITY COUNCIL TO INVESTIGATE COMMUNIST ACTION IN HIS COUNTRY.

LEGALITY OF CZECH GOVT. QUESTIONED
He said he refused to recognize the legality of the present Czechoslovak Government but that he has no intention of resigning because he still considers himself the servant of the Czechoslovak Republic as it existed before February 20.

M. Papanek's request that the Security Council investigate the situation in Czechoslovakia was made in a letter to M. Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary-General.

Declaring that it was up to the members of the United Nations to decide whether they would recognize the new regime M. Papanek accused Soviet officials in Czechoslovakia of direct participation in Communist action. He accused Marshal Stalin of violating the terms of the treaty of friendship between Czechoslovakia and Russia.

As M. Papanek told journalists of his decision to appeal to the Security Council Czechoslovak members of the Secretariat stood at the back of the room several of them weeping.

LIE CONFERS
It was learned that Mr. Lie will confer later today with Mr. Arkady Sobolev, Russian Assistant Secretary-General for Security Council Affairs, with M. Ivan Kerno, Czechoslovak Assistant Secretary-General Legal Affairs, and other legal experts on what action the United Nations should take on Papanek's request.

Nationalisation Of Reserve Bank

Compensation Proposed By Government Is Inadequate, Says Bombay Shareholders' Association

The views of the Bombay Shareholders' Association on the subject of nationalisation of the Reserve Bank of India have been communicated to the Government of India. In the course of a letter addressed to the Finance Department, Mr. J. J. Kapadia, honorary secretary of the Association, writes:

In view of the rigid control exercised by Government the limitation of shareholders' dividends prescribed by the Act and the excellent record of the bank, my Committee fail to understand the necessity for the Government's decision to nationalise the Bank. Moreover, the conditions in the country are so unstable that it is premature to nationalise the bank at this stage. For these reasons, my Committee cannot but look upon the Government's decision with considerable misgivings.

The Hon'ble Member has stated that "Government's intention is to acquire its (Reserve Bank's) shares at the average of the monthly market value of the stock for the period from March 1947 to February 1948 taking the opening quotations for each month and to issue in lieu thereof to the shareholders 3 per cent long dated stock of the equivalent value of appropriate maturity." In my letter to you dated the 14th inst. I sought clarification of the words "Equivalent value" that is to say whether they mean market value or value ample to maintain the shareholders' revenue in respect of their investments but I have not received any reply to the same so far.

My Committee are surprised that on an important matter like this, Government should have announced their decision without consulting the interests concerned. If these interests had been consulted, my Committee would have pointed out that the basis of the average market valuation followed in this case is entirely wrong.

As part from the fact that the period chosen for working out the average market value is most unfair—a point to which I shall refer later on—my Committee cannot help pointing out that Government ought to have proceeded on the well known principle of maintaining the shareholders' revenue in respect of their investments in the Bank's shares. This principle was adopted in the case of the Bank of England whose shareholders got by way of compensation 3 per cent Government stock of £400/- in exchange for £100/- of the Bank stock. This basis of compensation was adopted as it was considered fair that the shareholders should be able to earn an income of 3 per cent on the value of their shares in the Bank's stock of the nominal value of £100/-.

TRUCE NEGOTIATIONS IN THE YEMEN

CAIRO, March 10, (Reuters): Truce negotiations, sponsored by the Arab League, and backed by King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, are being held in the Yemen, where a civil war has broken out.

Daily negotiations are taking place between the warring factions—the one side led by the Emir Seif El-Islam Ahmed, eldest son of the late Imam, and on the other, by the 60-year-old Chieftain Abdullah el Wazir.

Abdul Rahman Azam Pasha, Secretary of the Arab League, who was sent to the Yemen by the Arab League to find out the details of the truce negotiations, is reported to be still at Riyadh, the capital of Saudi Arabia, where he was conducting truce negotiations.

King Ibn Saud has reported that he would remain neutral. Egypt has also taken third stand.

Sayed El Wazir was reported, early this week, to have accepted King Ibn Saud to send him bombers to deal with Bedouin looters in the Yemen mountain capital of Sanaa.

News of efforts to find a truce situation in the Yemen had grown worse with the Bedouins, who are neutral, taking advantage of the situation to attack property in the old walled city, where they believed the fabulous wealth of the country, the dead Imam and to the country, might be hidden.

Kalyanmal's Poor Show

Draw With Railways

BOMBAY, Wednesday.

KALYANMAL'S RAILWAYS

From this evening's performance one might find it hard to believe that only a double of seasons ago the Kalyanmal was a powerful and all conquering side that had welded every member of the team into a component of a superb fighting machine capable of overcoming almost every obstacle. For this evening they played like an inexperienced side incapable of rising to great heights when the occasion so demanded. Apart from the fact that not a single player was half as good as we have been accustomed to see him, the team failed to impress the spectators and their opponents alike. It was all they could to earn a reply. During the latter parts of the match and even during the extra time which was played to no purpose the Railway marksmen came dangerously close to eliminating their reputed rivals.

What disappointing this evening's was even more so. Durga Prasad who, not so long ago was the finest pivot of his country seemed to have lost his skill and his artistry at Indore. His new wingers, Champalal and Gendalal appear ever remotely dangerous. Even the usually impeccable Rozario seemed to have been a victim of this affliction and allowed Fernandes and Kishen to pass him repeatedly. It was Akhtar Hussein who alone by his tireless efforts and sound anticipation prevented a throughout during the closing stages of the match. The Indore side's new custodian proved to be quite expensive as he was directly responsible for the goal which came as the result of a penalty awarded when he pushed the ball out with his hands. Bocarro who was entrusted with the bully converted it to restore equality soon after Santoo Ram had placed his in the lead by converting an excellent pass from inside-left Pillay.

The Railwaymen, though never really brilliant, acquitted themselves more creditably. Arthur Fernandes, inside their inside-right played clever hockey, though only in patches. He was well supported by Bocarro who at the new position of inside-left did as well as he has been doing as the leader of the attack during this season. In the deep defence both Jadhav and Ismail Khan particularly the latter stood up to the sporadic raids in the second half and the swift move constant attacking early in the match. Ismail Khan seldom allowed the ball to beat him and repeatedly saved his side from an awkward situation.

THE TEAMS:

KALYANMAL: Babban, Rajanna and Akhtar Hussein, Munir, Durga Prasad and Rozario, Gendalal, Munir Sahib, Santoo Ram, Pillay and Champalal.

RAILWAYS: Donnelly, Jadhav and Ismail Khan, Agre Mulla and Dias, Kishen, A. Fernandes, Muzelle, Bocarro and G. Fernandes.

Thursday evening at 4-10 p.m. Kalyanmal vs. Railways (Replay). 5-30 p.m. Bangalore Blues vs. The Rest.

Queensland's Stiff Attitude Towards Strikers?

BRISBANE, March 10, (Reuters). Queensland's Parliament, which has a Labour majority, will sit continuously until it passes the strike-breaking Bill introduced today to combat the five-week old railway strike in the State.

The bill gives the police power to arrest pickets, loiterers or anyone who tries to intimidate strikers, returning to work and institutes a penalty of £100 or six months imprisonment of both.

About 31,000 Queensland workers are estimated "out" as a result of a strike which has paralysed communications and left inland towns seriously short of food.

The strike began when 3,000 maintenance men came out for higher wages.

At a hearing to the deputation and assured them that the convincing case presented by the industry would receive the fullest consideration of the Government.

SPORTS JOTTINGS FROM ENGLAND

Lincolnshire And Grand National Favourites

(By R. C. H. CARTER)

Gordon Richards will be riding Kinale, the second favourite for the Lincolnshire on March 13, if the horse is not withdrawn beforehand. Clarion III, Kinale and Cresta Cup were shown recently as the first, second and third favourites for the Lincolnshire; and Romond, Rowland Roy and Silver Fame, for the Grand National of the following week.

Coughlan, last year's National winner, is put down as the twelfth, Prince regent tenth, and Reveley (the "unofficial" favourite for some time) is the fourth.

Until some time after the Ascot meet in June when the late Lord Derby's will is expected to be proved, his horses are to run in the name of an old friend of the family, Brig T. Fairfax. Brig is now at the head of the executors. But they will carry the Stanley colours—black with white sash and white cap.

The new 29-year-old Lord Derby, who is a member of the Jockey Club and of Tattersall's Committee, intends to carry on the late Lord's large racing stable and breeding stud at Newmarket. The horses he inherits will, of course, carry the famous Derby colours—black and white cap.

SQUASH RACKETS

Mahmoud el Karim, holder of the Open Squash Racquets Championship, won the Dunlop Professional Tournament by beating J. Dear (Queen's Club), former open champion and the present world rackets champion, 9-3, 4-9, 9-4, in the final at the Leamington Club on February 23. Dear held the winning lead at 6-1 in the final game, but Mahmoud went from 1-6 to 7-6 in one hand with a sudden burst of brilliance.

In the first game Dear led 4-1, but then made more errors than usual to lose at 9-3. In the second, Mahmoud led 3-0, but Dear was ahead at 7-6, and little unlucky to lose it, 9-7. Dear was right on top in the next two games and outmanoeuvred Mahmoud in drop-shot and lob rallies. When the match was at 1-1 in the final game, it looked all over; but Mahmoud showed his qualities as a fighter and just nosed out in an exciting finish against his rapidly tiring opponent.

FOOTBALL

With demands from all over the football world for British referees and trainers, there is now further news that much of the country look to Britain for leadership in the game.

London is to be "invaded" by a number of referees from overseas for a week at Easter. They are asked to referee their own counties, and are coming for a "refresher course" in an effort to become acquainted with the British interpretation of football rules.

So far acceptance of the Football Association's invitation have been received from Finland, Sweden, Norway, Belgium, France and Hungary, and it is hoped that most of the 43 member nations of the I. F. A. (International Football Federation) will be represented. The course will last from March 25 to 31, and there will be daily lectures from one of England's best ever referees, as well as other famous personalities. In addition, the visitors will watch the English referees in action during the Easter week-end.

City Clubs And "Dry Days"

BOMBAY, Wednesday.

The woes of the members of the City clubs who will be affected by the Government Prohibition Programme, were laid before Prof. J. C. Daruwalla, Hon. Commissioner of the Bombay Prohibition Board when he met the representatives of 36 clubs in the Committee Room at the Secretariat this evening.

It is said that the representatives placing their grievances contended that clubs should not be asked to observe "dry days". They maintained that due to the limited stock supplied to them the consumption of drinks in the clubs was restricted.

Secondly, they argue that the regulation of "dry days" applied to the public places and not to the clubs which were some sort of home "where only selected persons were admitted."

They further pointed out to Prohibition Commissioner that if the "dry days" were imposed, they should be given an option of choosing the "dry days" because some clubs were open on certain days for example the Golf Club of Chembur which ran only on Saturdays and Sundays.

Replying, Prof. Daruwalla assured that he would convey their grievances to the Government. He asked them to form an association and send a deputation to the Government. He said that while they were asking for concessions they should show to the Government how these concessions would not come in the way of the successful implementation of the Prohibition policy.

Search For Mountain Higher Than Everest

Final Touches To U. S. Aerial Expedition

SHANGHAI, March 8, (Reuters): Mr. Milton Reynolds, American millionaire sponsor of an aerial expedition to find a mountain higher than Everest in remote North West China, was today making final preparations to leave tomorrow for his base of operations at Lanchow, capital of Kansu Province.

His plane, the "Explorer" was being given its final check-over by the chief pilot, Captain William Odum, who last August, completed a round-the-world solo flight in the record time of 73 hours and 5 minutes.

The plane will make a brief stop at Nanking to pick up a Chinese team.

"Explorer" was loaded with four tons of photographic and electronic equipment and many scientific instruments.

The three-week search for a mountain higher than Everest will be carried out over the Anne Machin Range, so far unexplored, unmeasured and unphotographed.

It is also hoped to establish whether uranium or other radio-active minerals exist in the range.

Let Us Pitch "Our Own Tent" And Invite Others Into It

Lohia's Plea For Change In India's Present Foreign Policy

NEW DELHI, March 10, (A.P.I.): Dr. Ram Manohar Lohia, Socialist leader, commenting on the Prime Minister's latest foreign policy statement in the Dominion Parliament, said: "Our present foreign policy is understandable and it becomes more so with each new defence. What it professes it never carries out. It seeks to bolster itself up with meaningless words and no acts. Actually, it seems to be a combination of three different complexes—the encirclement complex, the independence complex and the complacency complex."

POOR CONSOLATION

"When the whole world is accused of power politics and this is advanced as a reason of one's own failure one remembers that Germany long complained of being encircled by foes in the same manner in which Russia does. Even assuming that the world is guilty of power politics, we have to live in this world and we should not console ourselves by ascribing our failures to this."

"A great deal is often said about our independent foreign policy but that hardly ever shows itself. There is no doubt about it that we are camp followers, sometimes of this bloc, on other occasions of that bloc and we have been conspicuously unsuccessful in advocating and furthering any positive and independent policies."

"A third feature was noticeable in the latest statement. We are no worse off than the others; the others have failed just as much as we' was more or less the argument. Whether others fail or do not, that can surely be no object of satisfaction to us."

LONG-RANGE OBJECTIVES

Dr. Lohia suggested three long-range objectives as the basis of India's foreign policy.

Firstly, India should sponsor admission of South-East Asian nations into the U.N.O.

Secondly, India should propose and initiate schemes of reconstruction so that the peoples and Government of the world would find it difficult to resist them.

Thirdly, we should pitch "our own tent" and invite other countries and peoples to come into that tent on the basis of equality.

Under agreement on questions of trade relations between the Soviet Union and Egypt signed on March 3, the Egyptian Government has agreed to the Soviet Union cotton from stocks in exchange for grain, timber, ammonium sulphate and other goods.

Similar agreement is considered here possible by trade circles between the Soviet Union and India.

In remote antiquity when society was still in the savage state, trading consisted entirely of barter. You could, for instance, if you were a hunter exchange your tiger skin for a goat or buy a supply of grain or even get yourself a wife. And if none of the sellers wanted a tiger skin, you just could not buy anything at all!

Much as anyone wanted to save for the uncertain future, it was neither easy nor was it worthwhile. Because savings could take a strange shape: Stacks of bananas! Bags of grain! Flocks of sheep! Perishable savings, weren't they? And no dividends at the end of the year!

Today, however, neither purchasing nor saving presents much difficulty. The wise man prefers to save for the future instead of spending now and he invests his savings wisely. The money invested in National Savings Certificates is absolutely safe and it increases in value by 50% at maturity i.e. every Rs. 10/- becomes Rs. 15/- after twelve years. The interest is Income Tax free. You can now invest any amount from Rs. 5/- to Rs. 15,000/-. Small Savers can buy Savings Stamps for As. 4/-, 8/- and Re. 1/-.

Obtainable from Post Offices, Authorized Agents appointed by Government and Savings Bureau.

WEIGHT OF DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE

(Before the Hon'ble the Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Gajendragadkar) The Industrial Commercial Trust Ltd. Appellants (Plaintiffs) vs. Respondents (Defendants)

Holding that oral evidence which was consistent with documentary evidence must be preferred to oral evidence which was contrary to it, their lordships allowed an appeal from a judgment of the trial judge Mr. Justice Bhagwati and passed a decree in favour of the plaintiffs for Rs. 22,540 with interest and costs.

The plaintiffs had filed this suit to recover Rs. 24,500 advanced by them on 16th February 1945 to Mrs. Bapasa, Sole proprietress of the defendant-firm. The plaintiffs relied on a receipt given by one Mr. Anklesaria the manager of the defendant-firm in which it was specifically stated that the amount was a temporary loan. Entries had been made in the plaintiffs' books in accordance with this receipt.

Mrs. Bapasa on the other hand contended that the amount in question had been paid to her not as a loan but as the price of four packets of jewels sold by her to Russi Mistry, a director of the plaintiff company.

MR. GOBINDRAM KISHANDAS PUNJABI

Your father has died at Sukkur. Your mother, along with your wife and children are in great difficulty. Please come at once without delay at the following address:

TRIKUMDAS K. PUNJABI,
Sonawala Building No. 1,
Tardeo, BOMBAY No. 7.

She alleged that the receipt in question was a forgery and that the account books had been fabricated in order to support the plaintiffs' story. The trial judge had dismissed the plaintiffs' suit, disbelieving the evidence of Mistry. He accepted the evidence of Mrs. Bapasa except with regard to the alleged forgery of the receipt and fabrication of the books account, which the trial judge held she was not justified in challenging.

On appeal their lordships held that the receipt contained an unequivocal admission by an agent of the defendants, which oral evidence could never supplant, once the trial judge had rejected the defendants' contention that the agent had never made the admission. Their lordships were unable to discard the receipt which was the decisive factor, since the probabilities were otherwise more or less evenly balanced. Their lordships therefore set aside the trial judge's order.

LOANS TO REFUGEES

A scheme for the grant of loans to persons displaced from urban areas in West Pakistan who have arrived in the Indian Union, has been introduced in the Province of Bombay with immediate effect.

The Refugee Officer, Bombay, and all Collectors, except the Collector of Bombay, have been appointed as the authorities competent to sanction loans under the scheme, so far as the refugees residing within their respective jurisdictions are concerned. The amount of advance will be determined according to the individual requirements; but will not exceed Rs. 5,000 in the case of traders, shopkeepers and persons wishing to start their own workshops or cottage industries, Rs. 3,000 in the case of doctors and legal practitioners, and Rs. 500 in other cases.

Advances will be free of interest for the first year, but interest will be charged at 3% for subsequent years. No recovery will be made in the first year. Instalments for repayment will be fixed by the sanctioning authority in each case subject to the condition that the advance should be completely repaid within four years from the date it is given.

BUDGET DEBATE IN BOMBAY COUNCIL

Finance Minister Replies To Critic

BOMBAY, Wednesday. Continuing the budget discussions in the Bombay Legislative Council, Mr. M. G. Gopi (Dharwar-cum-Kanara), asked Government to extend the aid already given to food-crops to such products as coconuts, cardamoms and pepper also. He drew Government's attention to 700 miles of village roads in his constituency, which he said were in a sad state of neglect. The local bodies under whose control came these roads had not kept them in good condition. He similarly drew the attention of the House, to the paucity of doctors in his constituency. There was but one doctor for 20,000 persons.

Sir Abdul Latif Haji Hazrat Khan (Central Div. Mahomedan) asked for more police and military for Bholar and adjacent areas where conditions were now and again disturbed. Sir Behramji refused to congratulate the Government on the present budget. Fresh taxation of one crore, in a budget of 41 crores, he said was both unnecessary and unheard of. He criticised the Sales Tax, and the buying up of the B.E.S.T. by the Municipality and said that nationalisation of transport would lead to no better results.

BUDGET DEBATE IN BOMBAY COUNCIL

Finance Minister Replies To Critic

Turning to the question of prohibition, he categorically stated "You will not succeed", and offered to take Dr. round to many places where liquor was openly distilled and sold. Mrs. Violet Alva, suggested that Government should seriously consider running some hostels for girls, as female education was on the increase and girls experienced great hardship in finding accommodation.

Mr. R. N. Mandlik criticised certain aspects of the budget and referred to the arrests and detention of certain persons under the Public Security Measures Act, though it was pointed out to him again and again that these "oblique" references were irrelevant.

ATTACK ON PROHIBITION

B.E.S.T. STILL HAS 'ANTI-INDIAN' MANAGER
Mr. Abidul Jafferbhoy wanted the Tybia College must either be closed down or maintained properly. He wanted greater help to be given to Unani, and Ayurvedic systems. Referring to the B.E.S.T., he was afraid that the Municipality would not be able to run the organisation efficiently, as they still maintained its anti-Indian Manager. He wanted Government House expenses, and excessive expenditure incurred on certain officials, to be reduced. He accused the Government of Bombay of being too lenient with communalists. He wanted strong action to be taken against these bodies.

ATTACK ON REDS
"Certainly as we cannot tolerate Pakistanis in this country, so we cannot tolerate the communists also whose loyalty is not to India, but to Russia," he said.

Mr. M. P. Patil, on behalf of the Government said that though the Government had offered to subsidise the construction of wells to the extent of 50 per cent, he had to admit that the progress was slow, as boring machines etc. were not available. He had received no application for subsidising coconut, pepper and other plantations, but if the applications came forward, the Government would view them sympathetically. Regarding the ploughing and harrowing of land by tractors, he maintained that Government rates were reasonable. Bunding he said, may not yield immediate results, but in the long range, it would be highly useful.

MEDICOS' TRENDS
Dr. M. D. D. Gilder, Minister for Public Works said that Government was prepared to do everything possible to encourage doctors to settle down in the villages, but in practice, he found that even when the men who passed from medical college, came from villages, they wanted to settle down in cities. Regarding the suggestion that women's hostels must be constructed in Bombay, the Minister said that one such venture costing 11 lakh of rupees had already been undertaken. He mentioned some of the Hydro-electric projects in the province for which preliminary exploration had already been undertaken. He expressed the hope that the Maharajah research undertaken by Government, would ultimately banish Malaria from the province.

FINANCE MINISTER'S REPLY
Mr. V. L. Mehta, Finance Minister, in a comprehensive survey, replied to criticisms put forth in the House. He said to investigate and report on how to increase Municipal finances. The Committee was also considering the fact that while the rateable value of the buildings of Bombay had gone up, there was no corresponding increase in Municipal revenues.

He assured that matches were an exempted article. It was not proposed to include it in the operations of the Sales Tax. So also tea. These two were not regarded as luxury articles.

The Finance Minister said that though the Government realised that the Forward Markets were a potential source of revenue, at least for the current year there was no need to consider it. He admitted that though the Betting-Tax was an "obnoxious" source of revenue, Government had already announced its policy with regard to the future of racing.

JUSTIFIED SALES TAX
Justifying the Sales Tax, the Minister said that Government had launched an ambitious scheme of social service, and this could be done only by tapping all available sources of revenue. Similarly, he said the reconstruction plans of the Government, would necessitate the same.

A THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

A great nation has not only its frontiers to protect, it must also protect its good sense. To the thinkers the defence is thought.

SARDAR'S APPEAL

August 15, 1947 brought to India freedom than which there never is to any nation or country, anything more worthwhile. But, it also brought problems and difficulties, some of which were anticipated, and some unexpected and almost cataclysmic. During the last six months India has suffered much and longed for peace and the most "precious treasure", Mahatma Gandhi. It has also achieved a great deal. And one of the most remarkable achievements is represented in the success with which that deoprotected centuries old feudal anachronism, the autocratic Indian States, is being so smoothly and painlessly removed. It is to this change that has come over the States system, that the Prime Minister, Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru, referred the other day in Parliament and said: "A historian who looks back will not doubt consider that one of the dominant phases of India's history today is this integration of States into India. What is more important is not this integration externally but an inner integration, the growth of democratic institutions and responsible Governments." The double process has been going on simultaneously. And so rapidly and extensively that it cannot but strike any observer as amazing. This great achievement has, we recognise, been made possible to a considerable extent by the patriotism and commonsense of the Rulers, who have responded to the implications of India's independence and to the pressure of internal circumstances—the awakening and the urges of their subjects—in the interests of no less of themselves than of the peace and unity of India. But the main credit for it must go to Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel whose wise statesmanship and patience have brought about what is almost a miracle.

But the process of integration, external and internal, while it has already achieved so much, has yet to be completed. It has been achieved in respect of most of the States and groups. Several, however, still remain to be handled. It is obvious that those who are handling the problem, should be assured the same favourable atmosphere which has brought so much success. It is for this atmosphere that Sardar Vallabhbhai has made an appeal in his latest statement. And he is entitled to full and wholehearted response. Popular organisations in certain States, whose rulers have not yet fallen in line with the majority of the Princely Order, have started movements to force those rulers to do so. It may be that the leaders of these organisations have reasons to suspect the Rulers of the sincerity of their concessions to their demands. But they have Sardar Vallabhbhai's assurance that the States Ministry is fully alive to the urgency of solving popular demands in the States. It should be given the chance to do so in the manner and by methods which have proved themselves to be so successful in such a short time to so remarkable a degree.

Popular movements can be resorted to when the chances of success otherwise are meagre and uncertain. This is not the situation at present. A peaceful atmosphere will allow the States Ministry and his officials to work for a satisfactory solution and the Rulers to agree, with the assistance of the States Ministry, to follow the wise example of their brothers. That is why the all-India States People's Chief, Shaikh Abdullah, has advised Raja Mandals to stop all agitation in States. A fighter all his life, a man who would never shirk a necessary showdown, he knows that where the objective can be gained by peaceful and amicable settlement, a struggle is not only unnecessary but also undesirable and unpatriotic. The people of the States owe it to themselves and to the Government of India to hold their hands and to respond to the call of Sardar Vallabhbhai and Shaikh Abdullah. The Rulers also owe an obligation. "I trust," says Sardar Vallabhbhai, "that the Rulers and their administrations will, on their part, fully appreciate the necessity of maintaining good relations with their people." The Rulers should accept this advice in their own interests. They should submit to the inevitabilities inherent in the proverbial tide and learn from the wisdom and patriotism of those who have already done the right thing.

Mountbatten's Tribute To Press

The tribute which Lord Mountbatten paid to the Press in India at the luncheon given to him by the Bengal Press Advisory Committee on Tuesday was fully deserved. A section of the Press in India has come in for considerable castigation at the hands of some publicists for its part in creating the communal poison. There is not the slightest doubt that this criticism of the Press fully merits this castigation. But, of the whole, the Press in India has exercised a commendable degree of restraint in a situation of extreme and unprecedented difficulties. And a remarkable testimony to this outstanding fact of recent Indian history is given by the Governor-General of India. "When Mahatma Gandhi came here (Calcutta), his message was, 'I told him,' Lord Mountbatten said, "that it was the Press that helped him more than anything else in bringing about peace at the time of the partition of East and West Bengal." The Press in India needs no better appreciation than this tribute from Mahatma Gandhi and will ever prize it most highly. Gandhi's personality and life work were too great to need advertisement aid to world fame. But there is much truth in Lord Mountbatten's statement that mainly it was the Press which made Gandhi world famous and "he was known throughout the length and breadth, not only of India, but of the civilized world through the medium of the Press." Lord Mountbatten was struck by the prestige of the Press in Bombay, Madras and Calcutta and its national outlook which he added, was all the more remarkable when he realized that the Press was separated from the capital by vast distances. That, in spite of the great handicap of distances of a whole continent, the Press in these three main centres "somehow manages to keep in touch with the pulse of national life and reflect the national feeling in regard to the policy which the Government of the time might adopt" is a measure at once of its efficiency and the invaluable service it has been rendering to the country.

Frankly Speaking

Frontier Leader's Move

Khan Abdul Ghaffar Khan and a number of other prominent and wise statesmen in Pakistan have launched a timely effort to save Pakistan from the follies of its leaders. The agitation for Pakistan was cleverly based on a Two-Nation theory. But no State, comprising millions of others not belonging to the so-called "Muslim Nation", can be built up and wedged on the basis of religious nationalism. The leaders of Pakistan had the chance of rescuing themselves from the disastrous implications of their own brilliant theory when they had the opportunity some months ago of changing the character of the Muslim League in Pakistan and converting it into a national organisation open to all Pakistanis as the Indian National Congress is in India. But, evidently, they felt they could not do so without the past for the sake of the future of Pakistan. They preserved the "Muslim League". And they have been trying themselves into knots by professing Muslim nationalism as also a contradictory Pakistan nationalism.

Welcome Development

But this feat cannot succeed and no State can possibly function for long with a communal character while its population is multi-communal and while the present age demands secularisation. Khan Abdul Ghaffar Khan and his friends have realised this fact and the dangers with which Pakistan is faced. From within, the dangers of a one-party, virtually theocratic, dictatorship. The Muslim League, moreover, is not only a denominational party; it is also the resort and reservoir of a "Muslim Alternative". It supplies an organisation in which and through which the majority and the minorities as well as those among Pakistan Muslims—and their number is legion—who are concerned for democratic progress, economic and political, can function in common citizenship to ensure for all nationals of Pakistan a better, genuinely democratic and progressive life.

Great Future

This party can also promote, as the Muslim League Party cannot, friendly and harmonious relations between India and Pakistan, which is undoubtedly a pre-emptory need for Pakistan. The formation of the "People's Party" is an extremely welcome development. Its sponsors cannot have any illusions as regards the political and social trials that it is bound to face in its earlier stages. But once it overcomes the initial opposition it has a great and most useful future. In fact, it can revolutionise the politics of Pakistan for the good of the people of that State and of the State itself.

Dutch Efforts

Dr. Van Mook and the Netherlands Government have, thanks to direct and indirect assistance they have consistently received from friendly nations and Governments, succeeded in forming what they call an "Interim Federal Government" for Indonesia. It is the culmination of a long-drawn effort to split the country by encouraging and sponsoring separatist movements led by their stooges. Fundamentally it is intended to cripple and dismember the Republic of Indonesia. The Dutch Government has been successful in this aim by the consolidation of rival separatist units in order to retain Dutch imperialism hold over Indonesia save in name. But it is doubtful if the Dutch will succeed in their basic and ultimate aim. Without representatives of the Republic the Federal Government will remain an obvious farce. What is even more significant is that when the representatives of the State of West Java were called upon to choose their Premier they elected a Republican leader! This fact ought to disillusion the Dutch and their friends.

A Muslim Woman's Tribute To Gandhiji

Sir,—Mahatma Gandhi possessed all the inherent qualities of great teachers. The above said tears of blood for the inexpressible loss caused by his painful demise and one can believe that it stopped rotation for a while when the Mahatma's soul was set up into the ether. His message was glorified by his message of peace and tolerance and it did receive guidance and admonition from the great apostle whose sweet name has been imprinted on our hearts for ever. Kings, queens, princesses, philosophers and statesmen, commanders and soldiers, rich and poor—all mourned for the Mahatma. He has honoured and loved as he loved all alike. Priest mourned for him for they found religious instruction in him. His teachings were the teachings of prophecies, sagas, 'Gurus' and extreme politicians. With these qualities, and all the abilities to manage matters of vital importance, he was the true mind of India, visions of the world and the best and most reliable guide for all of us. We, therefore, grieve his untimely death as that is the only solace for soothing our minds. We derived happiness through the Mahatma's belief in the glorification of life, in defying the grace that would shield mankind. Iniquity not only is folly but leads deeper and deeper into folly, narrowness of vision and blindness to the fair things of life. The sorrowful news has torn our hearts but the reverence for the Mahatma has remained unaffected which is quite evident. His true religion was to live for the people and to live for us and died for us. There is an account of all our deeds. Our moral and spiritual responsibilities are, therefore, much wider than as for our own person. The best credentials that the Mahatma brought are the message of freedom for all and the heroic unselfish life which he led on a straight way. The messages that he brought to the world are now in a position to raise our heads and see things for ourselves. Our motherland is therefore grateful to the Almighty God for having bestowed upon us the world famous martyr whose disappearance was a loss to the world. We painfully regret the fact that we cannot see him now but we have the great satisfaction that we cherish his pious name 'Gandhi' which has become the precious rosary. We have paid our last homage to his soul and honoured it everywhere. We are in duty bound to praise his noble qualities and teach our children to follow his examples. It would be better to prescribe a lesson of Mahatma in all the primary schools permanently. We will lift our hands in prayer and pray for his soul to rest in peace and this should be done as long as we live. —Yours, etc.

Indo-Pakistan Cotton Agreement Signed

(From Our Correspondent)
NEW DELHI, March 10. An Indo-Pakistan Cotton Agreement which is in the nature of barter has been signed here today under which India exchanges 12 bales of cotton cloth for every 20 bales of Pakistan cotton with the ceiling 400,000 cotton bales. The barter will be through private trade at the prevailing market prices at the time of barter. India's maximum exportable cloth will be 24 lakhs bales of cotton cloth.

COMPLAINT OF INDIAN SHIPPERS

That established shippers principle, so far as the jute exports went, only operated for one shipping

Foreign Trade Policy Under Fire
No Diversion Of Jute, Assures Bhabha
Promises Full Inquiry Into 'Controls' Administration

NEW DELHI, March 10. Mr. C. H. Bhabha, Commerce Minister, replying to the debate in the Dominion Parliament today strongly condemned "inspired propaganda from certain quarters" that Government were trying to divert jute trade away from Calcutta, and said that he proposed to treat it with the "contempt" that it deserved.

The Commerce Minister said that Government were trying their utmost to see that coastal shipping was kept exclusively for Indian ships, but the biggest bottleneck was shortage of tonnage. Government had made efforts in that direction too, and as a first step, proposed to introduce what was called a licensing system. Legislation to this effect would be brought before the House very soon. "We hope that in course of time, when more Indian tonnage is available, the share of Indian ships in our coastal trade will be gradually increased to the elimination of non-Indian ships."

COUNTRY CRAFT IN PICTURE. A committee had been set up to find out ways and means of fitting the country craft into the whole picture of coastal trade. Referring to the question of controls, Mr. Bhabha said that he was not a candlestick maker for Indian hands and said that he realised that in those spheres of economy where a purposive direction was needed, it was not possible to do without controls. The removal would lead to chaos, confusion and social inequalities. At the same time, he fully recognised that it was Government's duty to see that only a bare minimum of controls or restraints was kept on.

ADMINISTRATION OF CONTROLS

Very close scrutiny would be paid in the near future to the problem of their administration and organisation. He regretted that owing to his other preoccupations on several vital issues, it was not possible for him to pay sufficient attention to this matter. So much had been said about inefficiency, corruption, mismanagement, etc., that he did not want to enter into a dispute with them, but his experience of most of these complaints was that they were, to put it mildly, over-exaggerated. Nevertheless, Government had tried to do their best and would spare no pains to see that all these complaints which had been associated with their control offices were eliminated at the earliest possible opportunity.

FOREIGN TRADE POLICY

He reiterated Government's foreign trade policy as enunciated by him on October 1, 1947, before the House of Commons. His export and import policy was a dynamic policy which varied according to ever-changing factors. Controlled commodities were reserved for newcomers. There were other controlled commodities like oilseeds, oils and fats, which were reserved for established shippers. The principle did not work or was found wanting in some respects and had to be changed. For these commodities, licences were issued to the applicant who was familiar with that particular trade and who could show firm contracts with buyers abroad. In certain cases too extra precautions were taken, namely a certificate of guarantee from the bank was needed. If letters of credit were not produced.

JUTE FOR FOREIGN EXCHANGE

As regards jute export policy, Mr. Bhabha said that Government were as anxious as anybody else to see that our jute trade retained the pre-eminent position that it enjoyed. There were three factors which necessitated continuance of control over jute exports. Firstly, we had to so canalise our jute to those countries from which we could earn the badly needed foreign exchange. For the sake of canalising our jute trade in those particular directions, we had to assign destination quotas.

Secondly, we had to ensure that our trade sanctions against South Africa were effective. Thirdly, Government needed jute goods to barter against food grains. During the last four or five years, before the introduction of the rationing principle in 1947, after the fixation of destination quotas, jute export licences were issued to all business people who were familiar with the trade, who could produce evidence to show that there had been orders from foreign buyers and who could also substantiate those orders either by bank guarantees or letters of credit. This system somehow was altered during the year 1947 and the established shippers principle was for the first time introduced into this trade.

In answer to Dr. Pattabhi Satharamaya, Mr. Bhabha said that he was not Commerce Minister when this change was made.

Another difficulty was this. One of the clauses provided that countries beginning to produce goods such as aeroplanes, motor cars, ships, etc., should not sell them at a higher rate than countries already producing them and marketing them. India, for instance, had steel, iron and coal as well as labour. But despite this, owing to lack of experience, it was possible that she would not be able to produce ships as cheaply as Britain or America for some time. An International Trade Organisation to be allowed to prevent India therefore, from building ships?

Referring to the multilateral agreements recently concluded at Havana between various countries, Mr. Ayyangar said that the only consequence of the agreement was an all round reduction of tariffs, which would again benefit the highly industrialised countries who would be able to dump their manufactures goods into the markets of undeveloped countries more easily. The backward countries would continue to be hewers of wood and drawers of water. Under such a system India could not increase her wealth or raise the standard of living of her masses.

Ayyangar asked how long India would continue to be in the sterling area. India had already built up over 1100 million pounds sterling balances. Was she going to continue to pile up her sterling assets, even after knowing that England was not in a position to pay? Today the world markets and the world situation would not permit India to do so much by the U.K. as by the U.S.A. India should therefore, endeavour to build up more dollar credit by exporting to America such goods as manganese, jute, etc., and so on, and so on, that we could buy the necessary capital goods from the U.S.A.

In this connection, Mr. Ayyangar criticised the jute quota control policy of Government and said that as a result of the trade being diverted from established shippers in Calcutta to some other people in Bombay, the Government had cancelled a number of firm contracts. The Commerce Minister: That is not true. Mr. Ayyangar: I am not interested either in Calcutta or Bombay shippers but only in India as a whole. As a result of what had happened, America has begun to manufacture paper bags instead of jute bags as she had been doing before. This is a result of the internal differences to be settled in India. Her needs for jute have consequently already gone down by three million tons. She does not lose her American market for jute in this way.

He welcomed India's agreement with Australia for food and said that some sort of regional agreement with countries like Malaya, Burma and Siam should be entered into for supply of food in return for jute. The political differences with Pakistan should not stand in the way of our having trade agreements with our neighbour, whose long-since cotton and jute exports had been jointly cut down India's quota of oil.

BLACKMARKETING IN CARS?

Mr. Ramnath Goenka criticised the export and import policy of Government and said that there was a whispering campaign in the country about this policy. It was well-known that whenever there was a great deal in prices prevailing in India and outside, people who were not generally interested in that particular trade liked to enter it and get advantage of the difference in price. This practice was encouraged.

Mr. Goenka urged that the Government should ensure that these practices were stopped, so that no injustice would be done to persons normally in the trade. Especially in regard to export of cotton textiles, this practice was prevalent, and the East Indian Cotton Association and other bodies had made strong representations to the Government. Despite the Commerce Minister's denial about jute, he would urge that everything was not okay with the export policy in regard to jute.

In regard to the import policy too, there was a whispering campaign. For instance, there were certain firms which were not allowed to import for the import of motor cars, although they were not entitled to the higher quota they got on the basis of their previous imports in any particular year. Mr. Goenka complained that for a number of years, one particular firm, the Hindustan Tens, was selling cars at Rs. 9,000, whereas the price for similar cars of other make such as the standard and Vauxhall Twelve was only Rs. 7,000. This was really a black market price in the guise of a white market price. Of course, very recently the Hindustan Tens price had also been brought down to Rs. 7,000. It was found that these cars were not willing to buy them at the high price when other cars were available. The Madras Government had asked the dealer of Hindustan Tens to produce invoices to enable them to fix the prices, but the dealer was evading saying that his firm were only dealers. The Madras Government could do nothing in the matter, because the Hindustan Motors Ltd. was registered outside its jurisdiction.

INDIAN COMMERCIAL CORPORATION

In regard to the import of newsprint, which was accorded a priority next in line only to food imports, Government had recently curtailed imports with the result that very large quantities of small papers—out of over 1,400 newspapers in the country only 68 were really big—were being forced to close.

Mr. Goenka suggested that the remedy for all these ills, the establishment of an Indian commercial corporation which would buy and sell goods to the country as well as outside on the lines of the U.K. Commercial Corporation. Such a venture would bring in at least Rs. 50 crores every year to the Government revenues. To the argument that the merchants would be affected thereby, Mr. Goenka said that they would be eliminated for the way in which they have behaved in the past. When cloth control was removed, it was definitely agreed that there would be no increase in prices, but despite this, the merchants were

From Mahatma

"If Swaraj was not meant to civilize us, and to purify and stabilize our civilization, it would be nothing worth. The very essence of our civilization is that we give paramount place to morality in all our affairs, public or private. The Swaraj of my...our...dream recognizes no race or religious distinctions. Nor is it to be the monopoly of the lettered persons nor yet of moneyed men. Swaraj is to be for all, including the former, but emphatically including the maimed, the blind, the starving, the outcast, the untouchable. It has been said that Indian Swaraj will be the rule of the majority community, i.e. the Hindus. There could not be a greater mistake than that. If it were to be true, I for one would refuse to call it Swaraj and would fight it with all the strength at my command. For to me Hind Swaraj is the rule of the people, and the rule of justice. Whether under that rule the ministers were Hindus or Mussalmans or Sikhs and whether legislatures were exclusively filled by the Hindus or exclusively by the other community, they would have to do even-handed justice."

JAWAHAR'S TRIBUTE TO SANTINIKETAN

NEW DELHI, March 10. (A.P.I.): The Prime Minister Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru, opening an exhibition of paintings and woodwork by Raja Ravi Varma at Santiniketan, expressed admiration for all that Shantiniketan has stood for under "Gurudev" and subsequently "Shankaradev" in creating a new life in India in many fields of activity more particularly the activities which add to the beauty and grace of life. Pandit Nehru said, it was something which had been lacking for a long time from our national institutions which were singularly graceless. Our politicians, including Pandit Nehru, functioned in a field which had little to do with the beauty of life (laughter). In this barren field came Rabindranath Tagore who gave the profound impress of his personality to the whole of the Indian scene and directed it to a great extent into right channels.

Pandit Nehru remembered that whenever any foreign visitor saw Shantiniketan, Gandhiji always mentioned Shantiniketan as a place or a place in places which he ought to visit. "No anything coming from Shantiniketan has very great value for me. Shantiniketan fostered a kind of renaissance in India, especially in the field of art and other similar activities. That tradition which Gurudev laid down is being carried on by others and more notably by Ravi Varma."

charging anything from twenty to 75 per cent more prices for the various varieties of cloth. Mr. V. C. Kesava Rao pleaded that India should pay more attention to the establishment of trade relations with various countries, especially in the Far East.

Mr. R. R. Diwakar drew attention to the neglect from which India's coastal trade has suffered in the past and urged that steps be taken immediately to remedy this. Referring to Government's decision to have two million tons of shipping in the next few years, Mr. Diwakar urged that all this should be built in India itself and not in foreign shipyards. For this purpose he suggested the establishment of a Shipping Corporation on the lines of the industrial finance corporation.

Mr. T. T. Krishnamachari asked whether Government were satisfied that there was proper co-ordination between that ship, business and trade commissioner's abroad.

Mr. Nazimuddin Ahmed suggested that customs barriers between India and Pakistan would be injurious to the dominions. If they failed, they would result in loss to both the dominions. If they succeeded for instance in respect of jute, Pakistan jute would be diverted to foreign countries. The jute mills in West Bengal needed jute on very large scale for their industry.

Mr. Kirsheedal referred to the stoppage of tea exports to Afghanistan this year.

It had been alleged that favouritism had been shown in the distribution of jute quotas. In one case it was said a Jewellery in Bombay had been given quota for the jute export.

DEBATE ON PUBLIC HEALTH

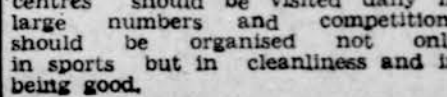

The House then took up consideration of the demand under Public Health.

The Health Minister Raj Kumari Amrit Kaur replying to the cut motions debate said that though medical relief was a provincial subject the central and responsible in so far as the centrally administered areas were concerned and to see that international obligations in this regard were carried out.

In regard to the establishment of All India Medical Institute the Health Minister said that committee appointed for the purpose had submitted its report. The project was estimated to cost five crores and the necessary building materials for the purpose were not available. The Health Minister said that the question of taking over the King Institute in Guindy and the Haffkin Institute in Bombay would be discussed with the provincial Government concerned. The question of taking over the Haffkin Institute, Delhi, was also under consideration. All the three cut motions were withdrawn and the House adjourned till tomorrow.

U.N. Has Power To Enforce Palestine Partition

Secretariat Publishes Legal Opinion

LAKE SUCCESS, March 9. (UPA): The United Nations' Secretariat today published the detailed legal opinion of the Security Council which had sufficient power to enforce the Palestine partition with an international army. The opinion, compiled by Secretary General Trygve Lie and his legal and security affairs advisers, conflicts with the United States position that the Council cannot form an international force to keep order while partition was underway.

Lie agreed with the United States position that the Council was empowered and obliged to use force if the Council decides that the Palestine problem threatens the peace of the world. The opinion added that such might be necessary.

The opinion held that the General Assembly had in mind the possibility of a Security Council action when it handed over to the Council the responsibility for guiding the Palestine Commission and for assisting the Commission "with all means at its disposal."

The disclosure of the United Nations' staffs opinion, which differed from the United States' view, was accompanied by these other major developments:

Firstly, a high Soviet source said Russia insists that the United Nations programme to split the Holy Land must be carried out. The Russian official said some other powers, presumably the United States, France and China, seemed to want to "hesitate" about carrying out the partition.

Secondly, a United States spokesman revealed that the United States had appealed to the Arab Higher Council for an end of its boycott and for participation in the current Big Power talks on partition. The United States had also asked seven Arab League states to prevail on the Arab Higher Council to consent with the Big Five nations when they desire consultations and with the Security Council if so instructed.

Thirdly, a Big Power source said there has been "talk" proposing postponement of partition and the creation of a temporary United Nations trusteeship over Palestine.

Threat To Peace In Palestine? Series Of Questions In Security Council 'Big Five' Session

LAKE SUCCESS, March 10 (Reuters).—The 'Big Five' permanent members of the Security Council, with Britain only present to give information, discussed yesterday whether there was a threat to peace in Palestine and asked the British Delegates, Sir Alexander Cadogan, for further date on this point.

The session, which lasted only one hour, resolved itself into a series of questions to Sir Alexander.

Some of the questions and answers were: Have there been any incursions into Palestine from outside in addition to those already reported to the Palestine Commission?

"I do not think so," was the reply.

"Can Britain identify any personnel of the invaders?"

"I do not know of any actual identification, though it is known that bands crossed from one given country."

"Were the incursions organised privately or by Governments?"

"I will try to get the information."

"Are any arms reaching illegal groups in Palestine?"

"Every effort is being made to prevent such shipments."

"What steps are the British authorities taking to prevent the movement of hostile elements in Palestine?"

"I will get the information later."

"Are the disorders in Palestine due to outside elements?"

"It is difficult to determine the extent of outside interference. There are agitators inside Palestine but it is difficult to identify them."

"Does Britain consider that there is a threat of force against Palestine which now constitutes a threat to international peace?"

"Britain is being asked to answer a question on which the Security Council itself has to answer. The British Delegation is dealing with facts only not with judgments."

"Is it reasonable to suppose there will be renewed war between Jews and Arabs when the British forces have been withdrawn?"

"This must be foreseen."

"To what extent is opposition to immigration and partition spontaneous or artificially stimulated?"

"I think it is spontaneous as the Arabs fear that immigration will swamp them."

Questioned as to whether any ports in Palestine will be free on May 15 (date when Britain gives up mandate) Sir Alexander replied that the position would depend on the military evacuation schedule. The British Government will insist, he declared, that the Jewish illegal immigrants detained on Cyprus be admitted into Palestine between May 15 and August 1—when the evacuation of British troops is to be completed.

The 'Big Four' decided to recess for one day to await full answers to those questions, most of which have already been dealt with by the Palestine Commission. The next meeting of the 'Big Four' will take place tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon.

U.S. Appeal To Arab Higher Committee

LAKE SUCCESS, March 9. (UPA): It was learned today that the United States had secretly appealed to the Arab Higher Committee for Palestine to end its angry boycott of the Palestine partition negotiations. American officials have asked the Committee to participate in the private consultations now being held by the big powers in an effort to pull the world organization out of the trouble into which the Holy Land case has dragged it.

The Arab Committee is officially recognized here as being the spokesman for Palestine Arabs. The United States acted independently of Russia, France and China in seeking Arab participation in the big power talks.

No Important Changes In Their Cases

India And Pakistan To Stick To Their Former Stand

LAKE SUCCESS, Mar. 10 (Reuters).—Neither India nor Pakistan are expected to make any substantial changes in their case when Security Council resumes discussion on Kashmir question this afternoon. It was learned here cables Michael Fry, Reuters Correspondent in Delhi.

Indian circles stress that their attitude has been strengthened if anything by the recent consultations between Mr. Gopalaswami Ayyangar, head of the Indian Delegation and Pandit Nehru in Delhi.

Mr. Ayyangar does not expect to make any important changes in the presentation of his case and a similar attitude was reported from the Pakistan side.

A new approach to the Kashmir problem, however, was expected from other quarters in the Security Council. It was learned reliably that these quarters may now tend to take the line that the Kashmir raiders have been receiving unofficial aid through Pakistan and that the Pakistan Government may be prevented to use its best endeavours to prevent such aid.

At the same time it was believed that suggestion will be made for broadening Sheikh Abdullah's administration in Kashmir and ensuring that Indian troops in Kashmir will not be used for police duties during the plebiscite period.

TRIESTE DEADLOCK REMAINS UNCHANGED

Anglo U. S. Bloc Refuses To Accept Soviet Candidates

LAKE SUCCESS, March 10. (Reuters). The Security Council again failed to reach agreement on the election of a Governor for Trieste yesterday.

No future meeting was fixed, and the deadlock remains unchanged.

The 'big five' of the Security Council spent some months last year in abortive efforts to find an agreed Governor for the international free territory of Trieste set up under the Italian peace treaty.

Italy and Yugoslavia then made attempts to find a man whom both approve but they reported failure to the Security Council in January.

The Council then decided to elect its permanent members to consult again on the matter.

Since the free territory was established when the treaty came into force last September, allied military Government has been in charge in the absence of a Governor.

At today's meeting two new candidates were suggested by the Soviet side. Emil Stani of Norway, proposed by Yugoslavia, and Borislav Ecker of Czechoslovakia, put forward by Russia.

Britain and the United States repeated they could not accept the Soviet candidates.

Dr. Jose Arce (Argentina) proposed postponing the issue until after the general election in Italy next month.

M. Andrei Gromyko (Russia) retorted that the two things had nothing in common.

The complete dead end of the discussion can be gauged from the fact that neither Britain nor the United States even bothered to put forward or defend their own candidates.

DUTCH GOING THEIR OWN WAY

Sjahrir Says Events In Indonesia Are Alarming

SINGAPORE, March 10 (Reuters). Recent events in Indonesia were "discouraging and alarming" said Dr. Sjahrir, former Premier of the Indonesian Republic, during a press conference this morning. They confirmed his opinion, expressed at an earlier press conference in Singapore that the Dutch were going their own way.

Stressing that he was expressing his own views and not necessarily those of the Republican Government, Dr. Sjahrir declared that despite the Renville agreement the Dutch had formed a so-called West Java state and a so-called federal interim Government without further consultations with the Republican Government or the United Nations Good Offices Committee.

"I am wondering what will become of the Good Offices Committee in Indonesia if events there continue to take their present course," he added.

Dr. Sjahrir will return to Jogjakarta later this week.

FRENCH CASUALTIES IN INDO-CHINESE GUERRILLA ATTACK

PARIS, March 10. (Reuters). Figures of casualties in the attack by Indo-Chinese guerrillas on a convoy from Saigon to Dalat on March 1 issued by the French Overseas Ministry tonight, showed the number of killed to be considerably less than as given in earlier press reports.

Of the 69 vehicles in the convoy 19 were military vehicles on escort duty, tonight's statement said.

Of the 45 civilian European passengers, six were killed, six wounded and ten missing.

Of 80 French soldiers, 10 were killed, 13 wounded and 16 missing.

Five French Indo-Chinese soldiers were killed.

First reports had said 120 French and Indo-Chinese soldiers and civilians were killed in the ambush, which was laid about 100 miles north-east of Saigon.

The Viet Minh (autonomous national) bands which carried out the attack set fire to 30 lorries, and many of the bodies were badly burned.

Colonel de Serigny of the French Foreign Legion, who was shot through the heart was among the killed.

"Britain And U.S. Have No Idea Of Giving Up Italian Colonies"

Moscow Commentator Accuses Them Of Having Sinister Designs In N. Africa

ROME, March 10 (Reuters). Italy has declared her readiness to accept trusteeship for Libya with the sole aim of preparing her for independence.

In a note to the Foreign Ministers, deputies in London released by the Italian Foreign Office last night, the Government said it "considers sympathetically the rebirth of the Arab States in the Middle East and wishes friendly collaboration of Arab countries with the Mediterranean countries which has been the glorious function of Arab States in the history of world civilisation."

Regarding the future administration of Libya, the note said:

"The Italian Government declares openly to the conference (of Foreign Ministers' deputies) its willingness to accept management and trusteeship for Libya with the sole aim of preparing all the necessary conditions that Libya becomes an independent State as soon as possible and, with guarantees from the United Nations, takes up its position in the community of nations."

FRONTIER RECTIFICATIONS

Referring to the frontier rectifications suggested by Egypt, the Italian Government suggested that these should be taken up after the frontier peoples on both sides had been consulted.

Libya, now being investigated by the Four Power Commission on the future of the Italian Colonies, has been under military occupation for four years—Britain administering Cyrenaica and Tripolitania, and France governing the Fessan.

In the prolonged discussions, as far back as 1946 Britain suggested that the colony be given complete independence. She had given a war-time pledge to the Senussi who inhabit the desert interior, that they would never gain control of Italian rule.

The United States suggested a United Nations Trusteeship with independence in ten years, and it was later "disclosed" by Mr. James H. Doolittle, American Secretary of State, that Britain and France might fall in with this suggestion in the interests of agreement.

"NO INTENTION OF GIVING UP COLONIES"

London. The British and American forces had no intention of giving up the territories in the Italian colonies in North Africa where they built bases during the war, a Moscow radio commentator said last night. He asserted Britain wanted to consolidate herself in Cyrenaica to dominate the Eastern Mediterranean, and that America wanted Libya, which was more important for her.

As the date for the final solution of the fate of the colonies approached, he said, "the different attitudes of the Soviet Union and the British and American Governments are becoming more and more apparent. The Soviet Union, which should be put under Italy's trusteeship."

The representatives of Britain and the United States have demanded a complete solution of the final solution of the fate of the colonies till May, said the commentator. "They dare not expose their plans before the April elections since this would expose the 'secret' role of the Italian Government of D. Gaspari, who has joined the Anglo-American conspiracy against the Italian people."

He added that the air base at Sidi Barrani, near Tripoli had been put at the disposal of the Americans, and is shown by the fact that Rome, Fez, and Sofia Athens and Turkey are within a radius of 1,500 kilometres from it.

The commentator referred to press reports of a "secret military agreement between the United States Government and the De Gasperi Government," which gave the Americans "the possibility of complete control over air and naval bases" in the event of a war with a third power.

U. S. POLICY LEADING TO WAR

Senator Taylor Brands Marshall Plan As Vicious

WASHINGTON, March 9. (UPA): Senator Glen Taylor, the third party candidate for Vice President, today branded the Marshall Plan as "vicious" and stoutly defended the Russian foreign policy.

Taylor, the running mate of Henry Wallace, in a speech prepared for Senate delivery attacked the American military and political leaders during the debate on the European Recovery Programme.

Taylor gave a round-the-world review of the United States' policy which, he said, was leading to a war. Truman, Marshall, Defense Secretary James Forrestal and Congressional bipartisan foreign policy leaders, all came for roasting. So did the American policy from Italy to Indonesia.

Taylor denied charges that Russia tried to co-operate for world peace. He branded the United States foreign policy as one keyed to "Wall Street interests," militaristic generals and admirals, "sensational press" and big international business interests. He said the "get tough foreign policy" is rolling toward destruction like a steam-lined train without the engine.

Taylor who was the former "Singing Cowboy" entitled one section of his 35,000-word speech, "Where art thou, Harry?" in which he attacked Truman for not arranging a meeting with Stalin.

Referring to the European Recovery Programme, Taylor said, "It makes infinitely more remote any possibility of reversing the present trend toward war. I've called it stupid, because I don't believe it will accomplish the desired object, namely, buying the friendship of west European nations with a view to their becoming our allies in the expected war against Russia."

U. S. DEMOCRACY IN PRACTICE

MOBILE (Alabama), March 10 (Reuters). A Negro who addressed a white man as "my buddy" and then invited him to come to his house to talk over President Truman's civil rights programme was beaten to death for it the police said here today.

They said that the white man, a mechanic and fellow worker of the Negro in the army air force base here did not know that he had beaten the Negro to death until he read of it in the newspaper the next morning.

He is said to have signed a statement saying that he struck the Negro with his bare hands and then kicked him when it appeared that the Negro was about to pull a knife. He confessed to walking off them leaving the Negro lying in the street.

Mortar Fire Greet Balkan Commission

ATHENS, March 9 (Reuters).—A detachment of the United Nations Balkan Commission which was en route to the Greek-Albanian frontier in Epirus came under mortar fire said to have come from Albanian territory, according to Jannina reports quoted by the Greek news agency tonight.

Members of the detachment were investigating passes through which it was alleged guerrillas entered Greek territory from Albania.

Twenty-eight Greek general staff communiques said fighting was still going on in the region north-east of Philates on the Albanian frontier. Two night attacks by guerrillas were repulsed.

Guerrilla attacks continued to fire from the Yugoslav frontier in the Bourmes and Moutres region, the communiques added.

SAURASHTRA PRIME MINISTER SPEAKS OUT

Warns Princes Against Frittering Away States' Resources

(From Our Correspondent) RAJKOT, March 9.

Mr. Uchhrangralji Desai, Prime Minister of the Saurashtra Government, gave at Rajkot on March 9 an outline of the programme of self-help advancement of the people, which his Government has pledged themselves to implement. Their chief concern would be to aim at self-sufficiency in respect of food supply and at the progressive exploitation of their capital resources.

Mr. Desai warned the Ruling Chieftains, who were frittering away the solid and liquid assets of their States, which they had inherited from their fathers, against the risk they were running, namely, the integration of their States into the Bombay Province.

Proceeding, he observed that the Rajpramukh had asked him to select Jammagar as the seat of Government, although he had at the same time showed his readiness to stay at Rajkot, should the Saurashtra Constituent Assembly vote for Rajkot by an overwhelming majority.

Mr. Desai said he decided to divide Saurashtra into four collectorates with their headquarters at Rajkot, Bhavnagar, Jamnagar and Wadhwan, each comprising of 500 towns and villages. The headquarters of the fifth collectorate would be fixed at Junagadh, which was merged with the Saurashtra State. The delimitation of the sub-divisions to be administered by the Deputy Collectors posted at Gondal, Morvi, Bhavnagar and Porbandar would be settled immediately on receipt of the Delimitation Committee's Report on March 12.

Mr. Desai hinted at the prospect of the Saurashtra Public Service Commission starting work on March 15, and the Budget estimates not later than March 20.

(From Our Correspondent) RAJKOT, March 9.

Kutch, Gondal, Limbdi and Marva States are in the grip of political anarchy. Share Bazar Barely Steady With Restricted Business

AGREEMENT TO IMPORT COTTON FROM PAKISTAN RESULTS IN PRICE DECLINE

Bullion Market Steady With Moderate Demand

BOMBAY, March 10.—The Bombay Stock Exchange opened steady today and during the early part improved on scattered buying but subsequently reacted on renewed selling. Most of the improvement was lost and the market was dull. As pointed out before neither Bulls nor Bears see anything in their favour. So far there is no change in the production outlook and traders are awaiting new developments. However, professional operators are holding aloof while the market is interested in taravali business. Tata Steel Dids. opened steady at Rs. 1687 and improved at Rs. 1700 but later quieted at Rs. 1685 on renewed selling. Ordinary Shares opened at Rs. 350 and declined at Rs. 346. Bombay Dyeing Shares opened at Rs. 1052 and quieted at Rs. 1048. Kohninoors opened at Rs. 590 and declined at Rs. 584. Simplex Shares opened at Rs. 222 and declined at Rs. 220 while Swadeshi Shares opened at Rs. 638 and later were quoted at Rs. 635.

Towards the close trading was restricted which produced only minor changes. Tata Steel Dids. were done at Rs. 1685 and Ordinary Shares were quoted at Rs. 346. Bombay Dyeing was placed at Rs. 1048 and Kohninoors stood at Rs. 583. Swadeshi Shares were done at Rs. 638. Associated Cements were offered at Rs. 167 and Scindias were done at Rs. 297. Bellapurs and Constructions were steady at Rs. 361 and Rs. 206 respectively. Kohninoors are awarded a dividend of Rs. 12.8 but the same had no marked influence on the market which closed barely steady.

PROTECT yourself from chills in the rainy season by taking Peps antiseptic tablets. Neglect might cause persistent chest trouble. Dissolving in the mouth, a Peps releases rich medicinal essences which, carried by the breath deep into the lungs, destroy germs already settled and protect you from further attack. Peps stops the cough, soothe and heal inflamed membranes, loosen phlegm, and relieve congestion. For chills, sore throats, coughs, colds, influenza, bronchitis, bronchial asthma, and other chest and lung troubles, there is no other remedy so pleasant or so effective as Peps.
